

CIS Support

By

Kamonayi Mubenga

Bowie State University, MD

Technical Division-CIS

Introduction

- 1. What is the Technical Division
- 2. How the Technical Division network is designed
- 3. What I did
- 4. Acknowledgement

1. What is the Technical Division

Division

- Developing, designing, fabricating and testing accelerator and detector components.

1. What is the Technical Division

- Departments : Support, Machine shop, Engineering and Fabrication, Material Control, Development and Test, Head Quarters, CIS.

Computing and Information Systems

- Computing and Networking support of the whole Technical Division.
- Database for the Auger project.

2. How is the Technical Division network designed

3. What I did

- a. Assembling and inserting PCs into the network
- b. Creating web pages and documentation
- c. Creating mailing lists mechanism

a. Assembling & inserting PCs into network

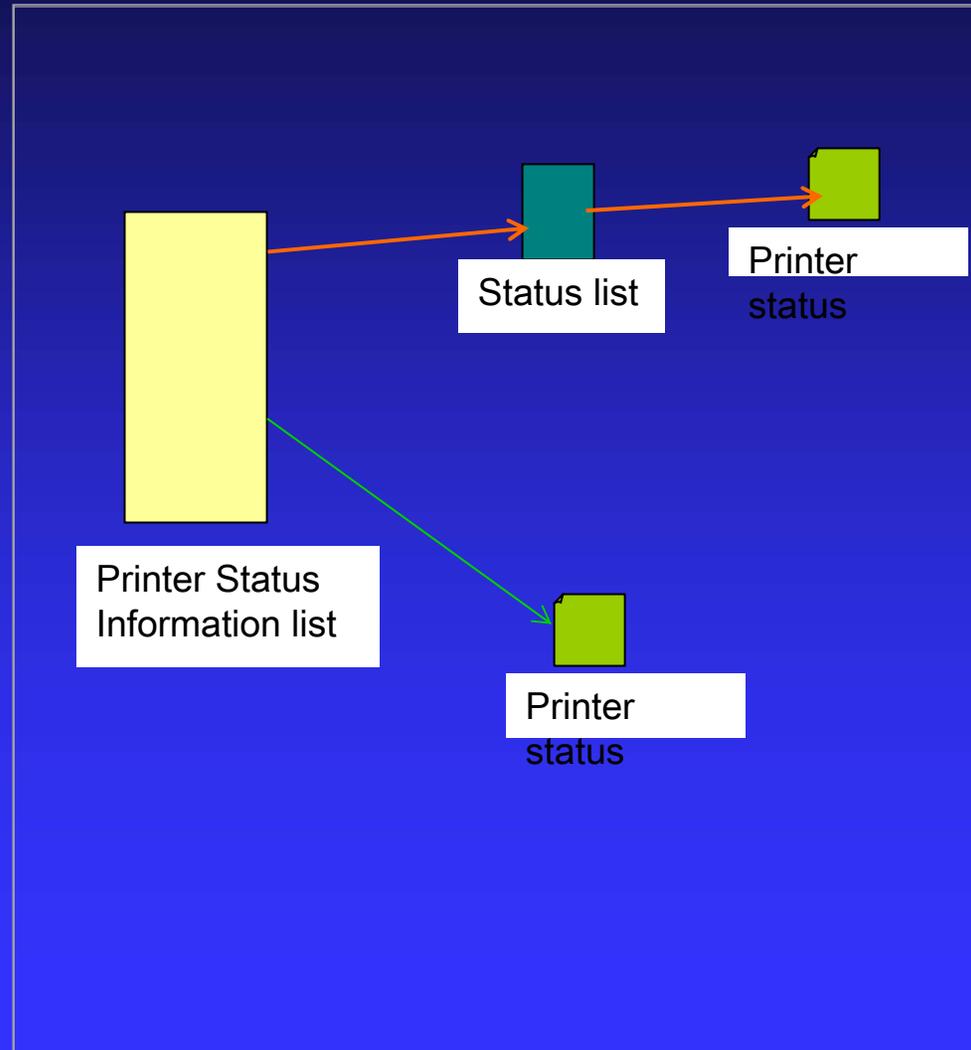

- Assembling computers
- Installing applications
- Inserting PCs into the network
- Example of IP address : 131.225.44.27

b. Creating web pages and documentation

- Assembling computers and formatting hard drives
- Has links to more detailed information

Updating printers status list

- WebJetAdmin which is a live database
- The printer itself

c. Creating mailing lists

- Creating lists using Textpad
- Tdsu47, Solaris 9 OS
- SendMail software

4. Acknowledgement

- I would like to thank the SIST committee for allowing me to work at Fermilab. I also thank John Konc for his teaching and guidance as well as Chandra Baht for his assistance.